

Juvenile Law Center 2018 Leadership Prize Nominations Form

Juvenile Law Center is now accepting nominations for its 2018 Leadership Prize. The Leadership Prize recognizes outstanding work on behalf of youth in the justice or child welfare systems by nominees of any profession – law, government, the arts, media, entertainment, sports or any other field.

Recipients of the Leadership Prize are leading lights in the field whose inspirational careers have served as beacons for the next generation of advocates. Their work has substantially improved the lives of our most vulnerable youth. Awardees have changed the field of children's rights through a lifetime of work on behalf of youth in the child welfare or justice systems or through a landmark contribution with enduring significance.

The deadline for all 2018 Leadership Award nominations is November 10, 2017. To be considered, all nominations must be submitted electronically on or before the deadline.

Nominations for all awards must be submitted via email to leadershipprize@jlc.org using this award nomination e-form.

Please attach a resume and two letters of endorsement/recommendation. In lieu of a resume, a bio statement – not to exceed 500 words – may be submitted.

Please forward any questions about the awards nomination procedure to leadershipprize@jlc.org.
